Abstract Text The mission of AADE is focused on promoting professional practice of diabetes self-management education. As one of the leading diabetes education organizations in the world, AADE has a responsibility to understand what our global colleagues are doing and how we can work together to advance diabetes education practices. During this presentation, diabetes education leaders from around the world will present the best practices for education in their country. They will also explain the role of the diabetes educator with a special focus on behavioral strategies and interventions. The role of the consumer will also be explored. Lessons learned from our global colleagues will enhance AADE's efforts to build the evidence-base for diabetes self-management education and become a strong international force.

Marketing Description Diabetes is a global epidemic and the need for diabetes education and educators is growing. In this session, diabetes education leaders from around the world will describe best practices in their country for addressing this burden. Come learn from our colleagues and understand how they are meeting the challenges.
